Dear Parishioners,

Several years ago, Archbishop Charles Chaput of Denver wrote an article offering advice on how to form your children into Christian adults. On this Father's Day weekend, I thought I would share his insights with you:

- 1) The greatest gift a father can give his children is to love their mother. Of course, the same applies to wives loving their husbands. Children see and absorb the relationship of their parents—and that relationship (whether good or bad) shapes them for life!
- 2) Teach your children to seek real freedom, not a counterfeit. Choice is not an end in itself. Teach them to seek choices that are grounded in God's truth—then they will find real freedom and lasting happiness.
- 3) Teach your children to seek wisdom, not just knowledge. Knowledge is morally neutral—it can be used for good or evil. Wisdom is the ability to use knowledge rightly.
- 4) Teach your children to see and remember. Our Catholic faith has a long and rich history. Teach them to cherish all the good the Church has done and continues to do today—that will help to keep their faith in Jesus and His Church strong.
- 5) Teach your children to develop the virtues of the heart. For example: Fidelity instead of broken promises, humility instead of pride, courage instead of cowardice, honesty instead of excuses, forgiveness instead of revenge, gratitude instead of entitlement.
- 6) Teach your children to revere the sanctity of life. Human life is so valuable that Jesus died to save it (that is, US!). Help your children to love their lives and the lives of everyone!
- 7) Teach your children to love. Love is not feelings—it's an unconditional commitment to the end. Jesus said, "No greater love exists than to lay one's life for one's friends." Only in total gift of self will we find peace—and the kingdom of heaven!

And remember, what you do is more important than what you say!! God bless you in the week ahead.

Fr. Wilson

PS Happy Father's Day to all our dads! Never underestimate your place in your family! Your strength, your courage and your protective presence are far more important than you may realize!!

I cannot believe the end of the school year is here! The hard work of everyone has paid-off and all our students are ready to move up to the next grade. A few students are leaving for new schools. I am sad to see them leave and wish them God's speed as life's journey takes them to new places! On a happier note, there will be many new students joining our school in the Fall. I welcome them all and look forward to learning and growing with them.

There are only a few seats lefts for the Fall! Please call if you would like to learn more about a quality education with Jesus at the center of our learning.

Until we meet again in late August, I wish you all a peaceful and safe summer! Remember to see the face of Christ in everyone!! God bless you!!
